XAVIER UNIVERSITY

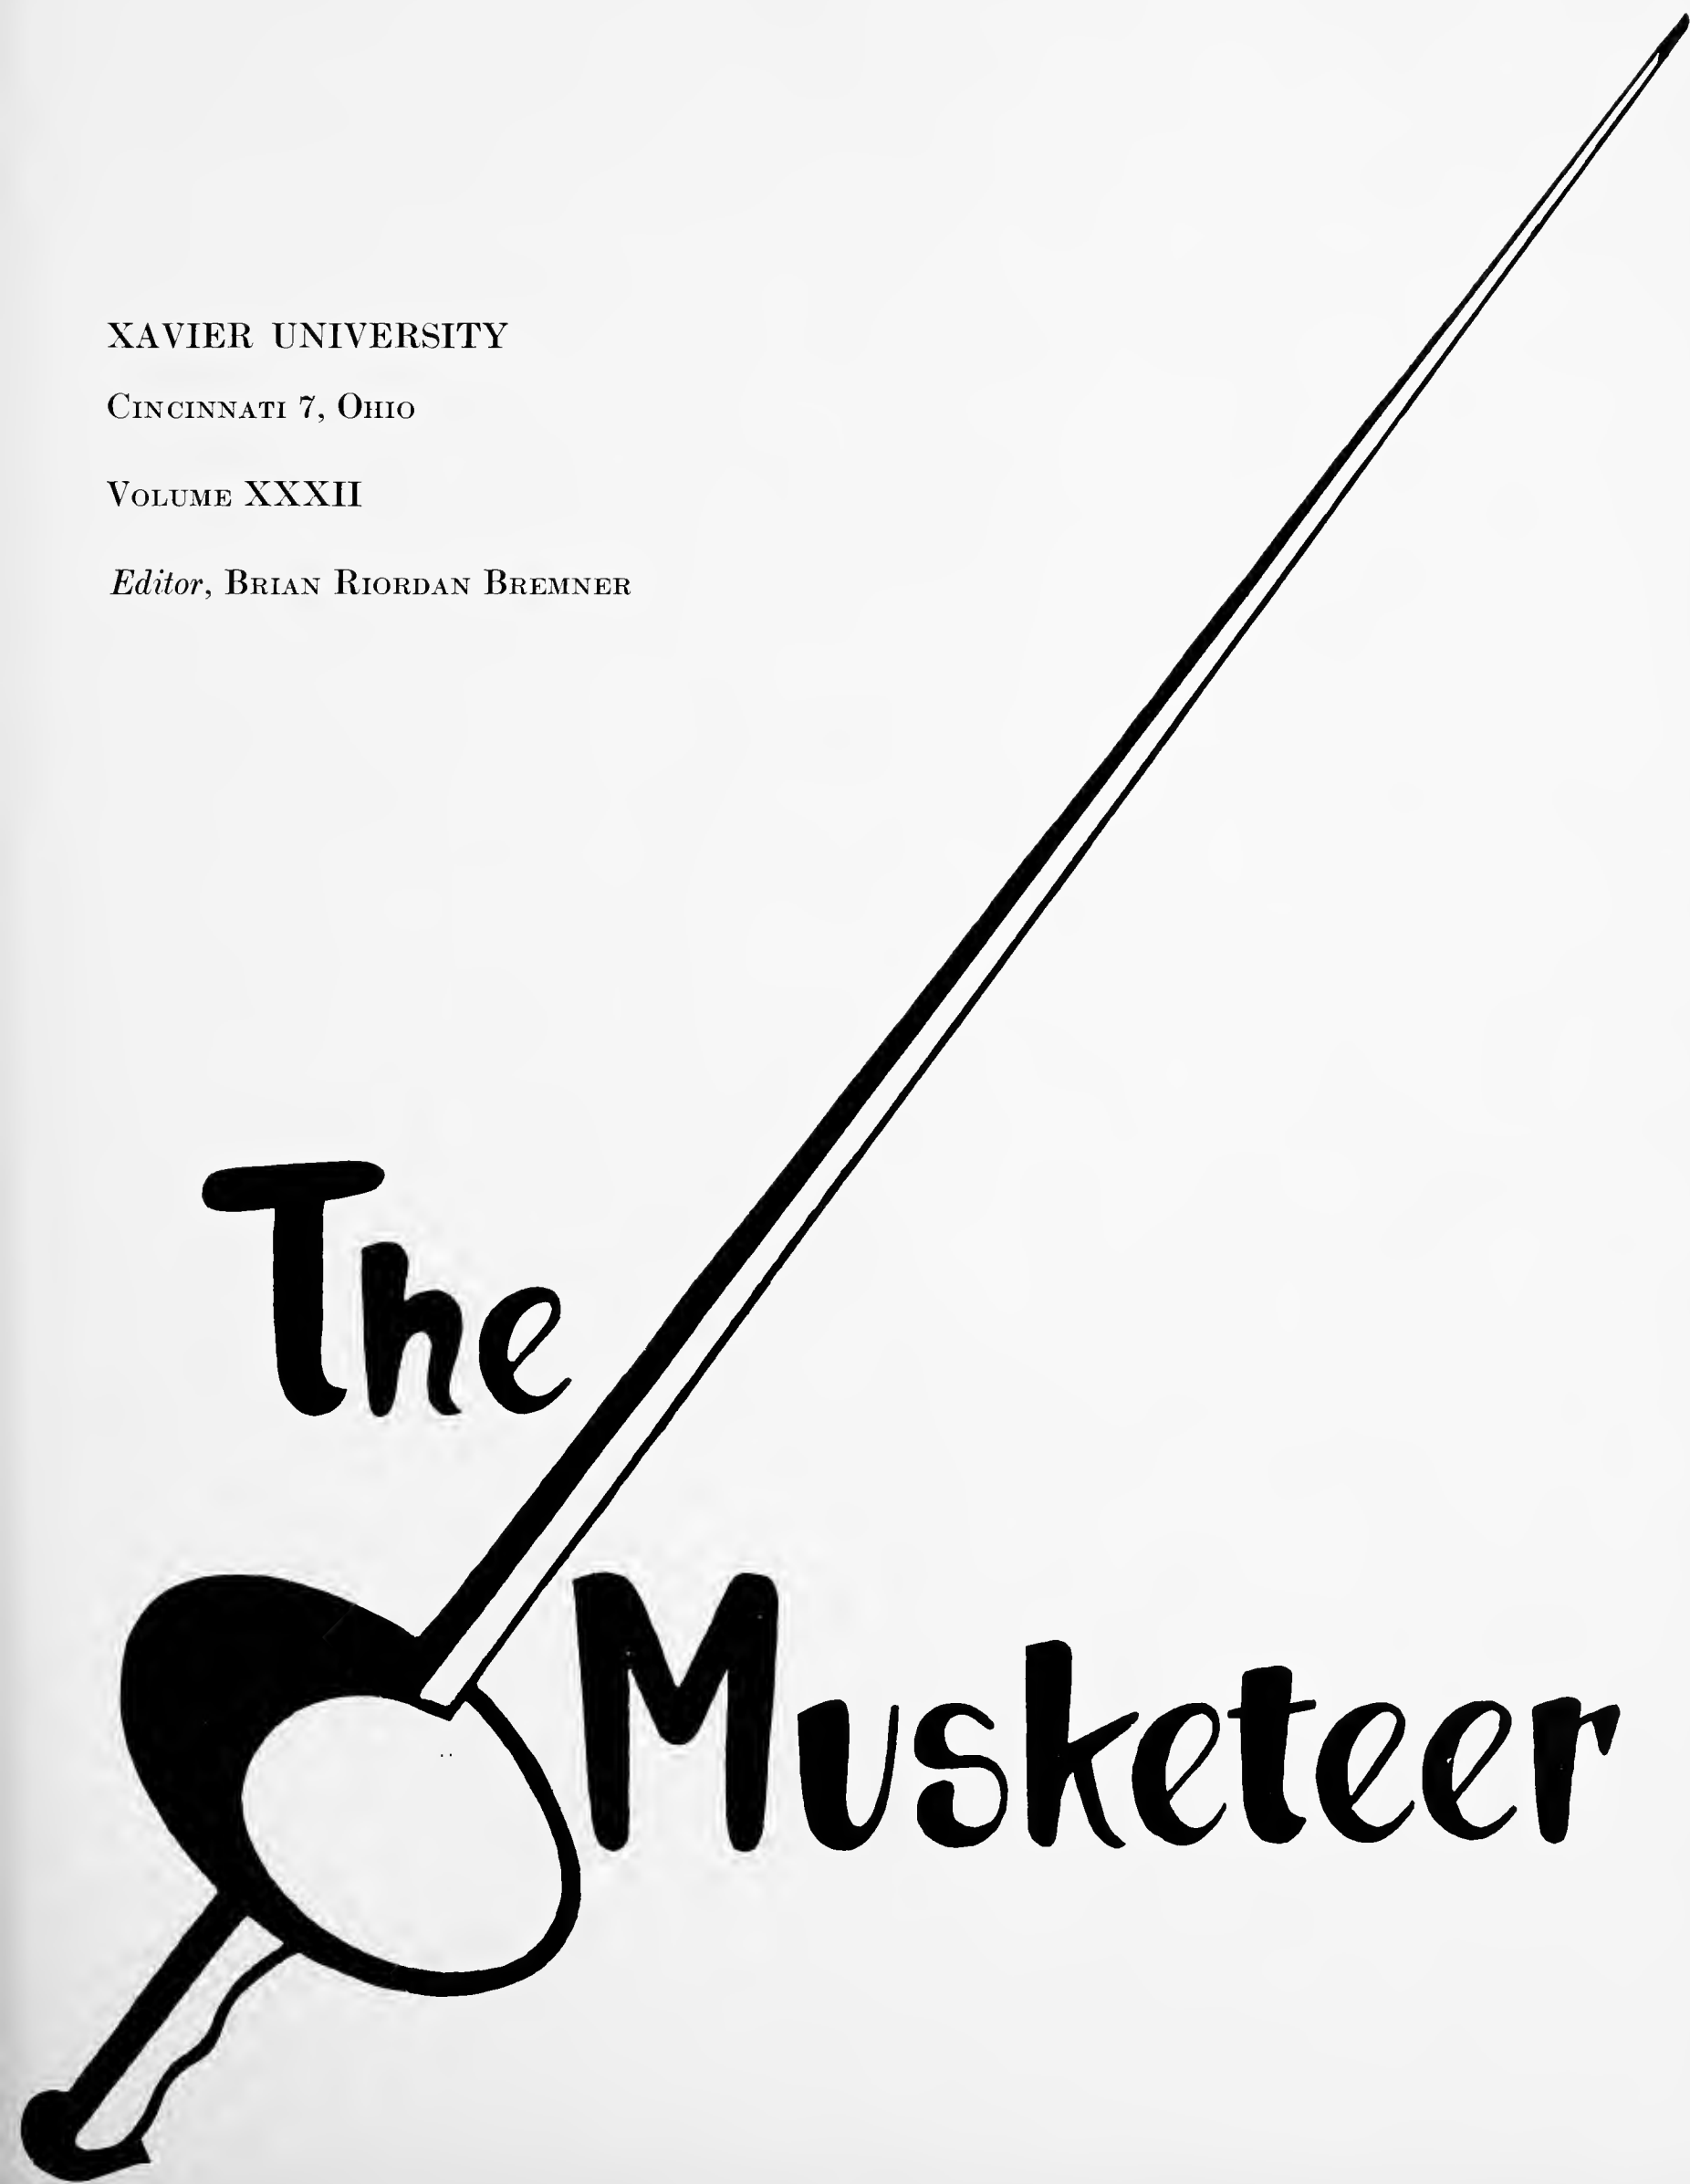

CINCINNATI 7, OHIO

VOLUME XXXII

Editor, BRIAN RIORDAN BREMNER

The

DEDICATION

We the students of Xavier University respectfully dedicate the 1959 MUSKETEER to the City of Cincinnati, her institutions, and her citizens who have supported the university so well for the past one-hundred and twenty-eight years.

This book is dedicated thereby to the man who attends a football game or lecture as well as to the alumni and the parents of our students. Today we thank the merchants who satisfy the needs of the students, the people who come to the plays, as well as the Mayor, other officials, and the citizens of Cincinnati. In short, this book is dedicated to the people who have taken an interest in, and lent support to, the university.

These are the people who have helped to make Xavier University what it is today. This is our opportunity to express our gratitude to them for all they have done.

The "old inclined railroad" still lives in the memories of many Cincinnatians, but the modern metropolis of today reflects the amazing progress of seventy short years.

ADMINISTRATION

The task of operating a university is a great one, requiring not only the full-time efforts of the President and his staff, but also the services of many civic leaders. These men, serving in the capacity of advisers to the administration of the university, provide one instance of city-university interaction.

FACULTY

The mainlines of Cincinnati life—industry, commerce, politics, culture—are stabilized and innervated by the influence of a university whose faculty, both Jesuit and lay, prompts and directs those exchanges of ideas so necessary to, so salutary for, the common weal. Grounded in the conviction that good action follows upon right reason, the work of these men is most broadly apparent in the student of today, that is, the city-dweller of tomorrow.

SENIORS

“Enter to learn; go forth to serve” might well symbolize the purpose of every university. And to the degree our graduates are aware of their social obligations, they will execute them. The city will benefit not only directly by the University’s contribution to her worlds of science, business, the professions, and culture, but also, in a less tangible way, will she prosper and be served by those who will carry her in their memories.

THE YEAR IS EIGHT MONTHS LONG

Still, green, the muggy short end of summer hung about the Armory. We stood for three hours: now we could sit for four months. For some it was the first time, for others the last, but for most, registration seemed to drag on continuously, ceaselessly.

We were 1650 at our first religious assembly, the traditional Mass of the Holy Spirit. But football had begun even before school's solemn opening. We took St. Joe's and in a turnabout, Kent State shut us out. The Xavier News appeared, the Friday-night dances downbeat, as did Editor Queenan's interviews, and R. Vanek was sick.

The Tennyson home was now Knights' Manor. Father Lonergan, S.J., who wrote a book in ten hours lectured on its first three chapters for an hour-and-a-half. We got "insight" and slipped into the old routine. Warm Saturday afternoons made football weather. The Marines dug in and bulldogged to victory.

The class of '59 began to count that inevitable series of lasts and "Pied-Piper" Schaffstein led the "Seniors of the Week" through the News.

Xavier had a reservation for Miami, but unfortunately, some Musketeers lost their reserve. It was October 4th, and the band held a victory dance in the Armory. "Rings by Christmas" promised Junior officers, and the class of '60 lined up just as the Yankee batters were at Milwaukee County Stadium.

Grad Jim Wiggs' column, "Let's Argue," would have been more aptly named, "Let's Agree," as his challenge lay on the South Hall tables amid the cards. Xavier Presents called for a year of variety. Architects prepared preliminary drawings of the new classroom building on Herald Avenue. Thirty-five classrooms plus all the administrative offices are to be occupied in September of '60. Groundbreaking was set for spring or summer of '59.

Philopedian affirmative and negative teams took rhetorical positions on the "... continuation of nuclear weapons development." On the local level a mutual non-aggression pact finally worked. No red paint had to be sanded or walked off. The day was October 11th, and in the red-black, blue-white cheering silence, the only words that mattered were, "Run, Gonella! Run!" We lost with grace and the Sodality X-Capades dance was not entirely cheerless.

We increased by Four Freshman as Homecoming swung into gear. Friday night was Dad-and-Son night in South Hall. On October 18th, during the reign of good Queen Judy Benvie, the Clef Club and the Knights of Columbus floated to victory, but the Titans walked away with the afternoon's laurels. Then we danced and came home.

The Pope is dead. . . . Viva Il Papa!

The Clef Club announced its new format and the sale of its recording. The French Club dancing lessons resumed; the bookstore was coerced into opening at night.

Freshmen got used to college lectures as the convocation series brought specialists to the campus. Father John L. McKenzie typified these men as he lectured on "The New Biblical Learning." The author of The Two-Edged Sword, Father McKenzie spoke on October 22d and Xavier men became members of the "New Species."

Autumn stole the light and day and left us leaves and suddenly it was mid-semester. The Miser played on Halloween weekend as Dusablon and the Masque interpreted Moliere. The Freshman president's chair was filled by Mike Guenther. The Flyers found they had landed on the wrong field.

The seniors began discussion on the choice of a class gift and mark of distinction. D. J. jazz man Dick Pike visited a Jazz Club meeting. Marshall's "Thundering Herd" went down the trail to defeat. A blue Perry Como sweater will "distinguish" the seniors. Frank Sheed on November 10th inquired into the Inquisition. The campus took on a Latin atmosphere, but no "student" demonstrations when the University had guests for the Inter-American Affairs Institute. The Seniors voted to equip a classroom in the new building. After checking both columns, George Castrucci came out winner of the first Haskins & Sells award.

The little Musketeers were pounced upon by Ohio U's Bobcats and the Muskies bowed to, and out, at Kentucky. Terry Meyer was chosen M.V.P.; Serieka and McGraw assumed the co-captains' roles.

General Kiraly, a Hungarian without a country, spoke on his fellow "Freedom Fighters." Regularly, he is a history student at Columbia University. He said that he would still like to go back to his homeland.

P.R.'s inducted at battery dance, called their initiation "criminal," but not one of them missed an exercise. Such is garrison life.

The forecasters ranked Xavier fifth in the nation. Our first chance to see the champ was in a frosh-varsity contest which the elders capped.

The next night, November 22d, the twentieth annual military ball was tuned by Buddy Morrow at the Topper.

One month to go until winter, but we soon saw the campus empty as Thanksgiving came, and the snow. Many an undergrad's plans went down the drain as the temperature plummeted when Cincinnati got its first taste of the season to come.

We came back on that first weekend in December, when the Masque scored another triumph in Richard III starring Tom Eckstein. Frank Messman took first place in the second annual speech tournament. Inter-collegiate essays were due on the sixth.

The year 1958's St. Francis Xavier medals were awarded to the Armed Services' chaplain chiefs. In a judicial decision having the impact of one of John Marshall's early opinions, Thole and Rolfes were acquitted.

Early basketball victories helped keep Xavier in the national running. New Mexico and John Carroll both fell before our quintet, and then we were off on what seemed like the longest Christmas vacation we had ever had—twenty-three days.

Returning to school meant changes, a new year, a reassessment of our position. In the meantime, inflation had hit South Hall. Cokes were up to ten cents but now we could get hot food—with patience. But the change was accidental and the crowded noontime was essentially the same as before.

The Marquette defeat portended ill luck. Xavier's showing in the Holiday Tourney at Oklahoma City was spotty, but the champs rebounded to trounce a vengeful Miami group, and split with Louisville. The Athenaeum came out and Jim Keller's space poem was given the key.

In the classrooms along University drive, the Senior Mark of Distinction began to appear. But those ten days passed quickly and suddenly we were in the midst of finals with ice and snow causing day-hops to sacrifice a few extra moments of study. Then, semester break came and the inevitable wait for grades. Those holidays were not without their significant moments as those strange hybrids from Clifton Avenue thrust home against the Musketeers as the nation stared. It was going to be a bleak winter.

After another session of musical chairs, we sat down to the spring semester. Beards flourished (sometimes). The Over The Rhine Party and Masquerade Ball eased us into Lent, and February felled the Muskies to the hardwood.

As students mailed the conventional greeting card emotions of St. Valentine's Day, Alpha Sigma Nu tapped new members. Mr. Bens batonned the Clef Club into another season at Good Sam on the nineteenth. The third Masque production was a group of student directed one-acts: The Boor, Trifles, and In the Zone. WCXU had a minor explosion and deliberated on the choice of a new Program Director. Brockman Hall went dark long enough to cause a riot. The Annual got underway with class photos and ushered in March with activity poses on Sunday, the first.

Lautenbach and Finn bridged the gap with "Trump Talk" in the News. R.O.T.C. on review merited General Zwicker's praise as he visited the parade ground. The Children's Theater picked the Masque to perform Treasure Island for a week in April; the pirates auditioned in the first week in March.

Father Horrigan wedded philosophy and theology in the Annual Thomas Fest. The Sodality sponsored a highly successful T.S.C.L. The first annual bridge tourney was dealt in the Cash Room on the seventh.

After repeated failures, the Musketeers hung one on Miami again, but could not turn against the home-floor-deadly Western Kentuckians—or for that matter LaSalle or Seattle. But the season closed on a happier note as the Muskies dropped arch-rival Dayton.

And it was still snowing, but here and there jonquils knived up. Xavier Presents showed the popular one-acts, with a promise of a Dixie McBrayer original. Friday the thirteenth, the sixty-seventh annual Oratorical Contest got under way. On Passion Sunday a Foreign Students Forum migrated to the Cash Room.

The band was still hard at work on rehearsals for future appearances.

St. Patrick's Day interrupted the Lenten restraint. Then that glorious Thursday when a real harbinger of spring arrived—a warm day—and we knew this time it was the real thing. And the Easter Exodus began. Palm Sunday, the Muskies were home again.

The more, the merrier. Some of the seniors had to take two comprehensive exams.

Piccolo Pisa ran two weekends in May much to the delight of all—it looks like Mr. Kvapil will be back again next year.

Final exams plagued the students once more, and the class of '59 girded its loins for Senior Week and graduation. Perhaps it is just as well the year is only eight months long.

UNDERCLASSMEN

More than any other group, the underclassmen are immersed in the milieu of civic-campus inter-relationship, for among these men occurs the phenomenon of learning that changes not only them, but also all those who stand by observing and expecting. It is by these young men that impressions are culled and gained, soon to be broadcast into action to reflect the value of their rational and intellectual development.

R.O.T.C.

To many organizations such as the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the American Legion, and to individuals who have themselves served our nation in the armed forces, the presence of a unit of the military establishment at Xavier University is a source of constant attention and interest. For many citizens and students, the R.O.T.C. offers an opportunity not only to learn and advance, but also to serve and lead. It is through the R.O.T.C. that the concept of the citizen-soldier, so highly regarded in our society, is brought to fulfillment.

SUMMER CAMP—FORT SILL

The goal of education is primarily training in leadership and discipline. Since 1936, military training has been offered at Xavier University as a matter of institutional policy. This is in keeping with the Jesuit philosophy of life which prescribes love of country and the duty of good citizenship.

The mission of the Reserve Officers Training Corps is the development of junior officers for the United States Army Reserve and Regular Army. The Xavier regiment is under the direction of Lt. Col. Donald H. Connolly, Jr., Professor of Military Science and Tactics. His staff consists of a cadre of Regular Army and non-commissioned officers.

The R.O.T.C. program is divided into two courses—the basic course and the advanced course. The basic course is compulsory for all physically fit, non-veteran students. After the two-year basic course, students may apply for acceptance into the advanced course. Upon completion of the advanced course, students are commissioned as second lieutenants in the U. S. Army Reserve or Regular Army.

Three areas of instruction comprise the military program at Xavier; theoretical knowledge, application of theoretical knowledge, and training in leadership, and military drill, and discipline. The military staff is in charge of classroom and practical experience exercises while the cadet officers conduct the corps days each Friday.

The cadet corps, while under the supervision of the P.M.S.T., is commanded by a Regimental

Staff of Advanced Course students. This year the commanding officer is Cadet Col. George C. Haas and the executive officer is Cadet Lt. Col. John M. Paris.

As a complement to the instruction received in the classroom and on the drill field, extra-curricular activities in various fields are offered to help develop the military student.

The largest of these organizations is the Pershing Rifles; an honorary society for R.O.T.C. cadets distinguishing themselves in close order and exhibition drill. Throughout the year the PR's compete in drill competition at various meets. PR is moderated by Captain Duane H. Savelle and captained by William E. Mountel.

The R.O.T.C. Rifle Club is open to all cadets who are interested in individual marksmanship. A .22 cal. rifle range is maintained for the club in the Armory. A rifle team of club members makes trips throughout the year to compete with various other university teams. The president of the Rifle Club is John Brendle; the moderator is

The R.O.T.C. band provides the student who has a musical background an opportunity to improve his proficiency in this field. In the early part of the school year, the band drills separately, Radio Club. The club operates Station K8WBL which regularly contacts other stations all over the world. The instruction and experience attained from membership in the club often results in members obtaining their own FCC licenses. James Zerkel is president and Captain Edward H. Metzger, Jr., is the moderator.

During the summer between junior and senior year, advanced course students attend a six-week Summer Camp at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma. The objective of camp training is to supplement the instruction received by the student at Xavier through applicatory training. This year Summer Camp will be from 21 June to 31 July.

ACTIVITIES

Drawing upon the City of Cincinnati for a great deal of support, the Sodality, the Masque Society, the Philopedian Debating Club—to mention but a few—are activities often in the news and quite worthy of note. These and the other activities on campus—instituted for the student's special interest—aid in complementing the educational processes which find fulfillment in sound character, and eventually in sound society.

E. A. Doering—Moderator

Well, we made it once again—of course no one but the staff ever doubted that the yearbook would come out. Even though the job often seemed long and tedious, it never ceased to be challenging, interesting, and gratifying.

This year's annual is enlarged, and we hope, improved. Among the many innovations introduced is the Senior Directory which provides a complete listing of this year's graduates and their home addresses.

Once again Xavier's newspaper continued its fine coverage of school events. The topics ranged from productions of the Masque Society to athletic events.

The News contained several new items this year. Throughout the year, outstanding fourth year men were honored in the "Senior of the Week" series, and during the Fall, senior football players were featured.

A new column, aptly named "Sick," saw R. Vanek comment on everything from "famous last words" to the purpose of a university. "The Music Stand" was inaugurated to give the latest word on records and concerts both on campus, and in the Cincinnati night-spots and concert halls. The South Hall Bridge Club passed on their wisdom via "Trump Talk."

The various school activities were given adequate coverage and publicity, and the editorials commented on matters of student interest. The Evening College, R.O.T.C., Student Council, and Placement Office were featured regularly.

ATHENAEUM

The Athenaeum and the Mermaid Tavern represent Xavier's two top literary institutions. The Athenaeum is the bi-yearly student magazine featuring short stories, essays, and poems submitted by the student body. Ken Klueh serves as editor and Larry Borne, Joe Eble, Terry Foote, Ed Edelmann, Fred Freihofer, and Tom Kuhlman are associate editors. Fr. Manion, S.J., is the faculty moderator.

The Mermaid Tavern was organized twenty-eight years ago to develop and retain interest in literature of all kinds. Prospective members are recommended by the English Department and voted on by the present members.

This year's Tavern included the editors of The Athenaeum, and THE MUSKETEER, staff members of The Athenaeum, THE MUSKETEER, and X.U. News, participants in the Intercollegiate Essay Contest, and the winner of the Athenaeum's gold key.

Rev. Paul J. Sweeney, S.J., is the Warder, Senior Joe Eble serves as Host, and Jim Keller as Francis.

THE MASQUE SOCIETY

This year, like last, the Masque Society sped through a season of successes. Starting fast with a Moliere farce, The Miser, the group found themselves rehearsing Richard III only one week after the curtain had dropped on the first play of the year. These two classics—striking extremes of theater—were all that could be squeezed into the first semester.

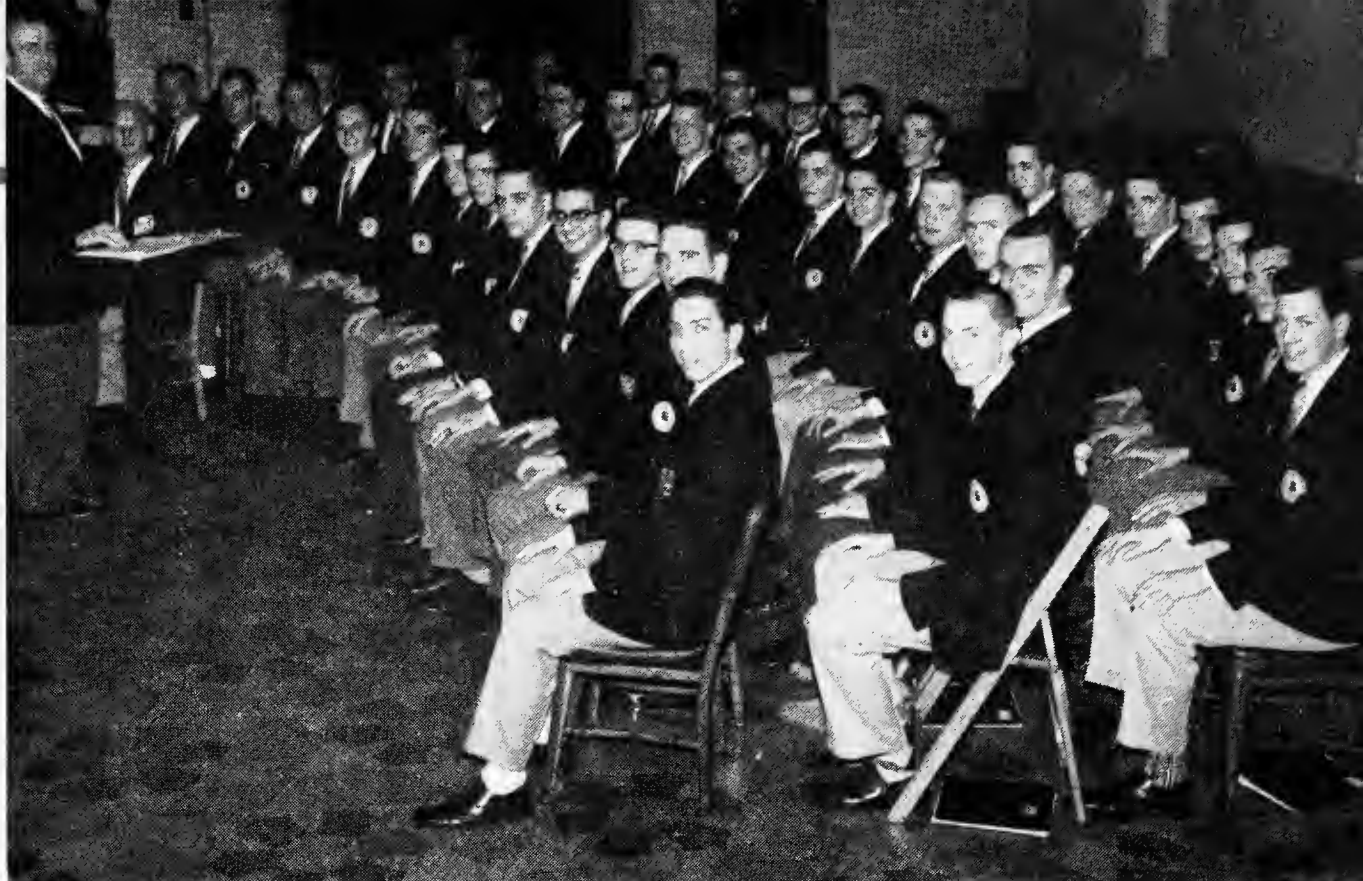

The schedule for the second semester seemed so blank to director Otto Kvapil that he suggested a program of one-act plays in addition to Treasure Island. Within two weeks, three one-acters, Trifles by Susan Glaspell, The Boor by Anton Chekov, and In The Zone, by Eugene O'Neill, were on the South Hall boards. The plays, which Father Reinke, S.J., moderator of the Masque, later presented on "Xavier Presents," were directed by Rosemary Henner, John Gutting, and Tom Eckstein, president of the group.

Tryouts for Treasure Island were held two days later. Then in less than a week, more tryouts were held for the spring musical, Piccolo Pisa, by Louis Botto. Thus, the two major plays of the semester were rehearsed simultaneously.

Next year we'll get organized.

CLEF CLUB

SAILING CLUB

This year's schedule consisted of fall and spring regattas. Fall competition included such schools as Wisconsin, Michigan, Detroit, Notre Dame, Cincinnati, Ohio State, Wooster, and Wayne State. In the spring, the group was invited to the Georgetown Jesuit Cup Regatta, the Ohio State Intersectional Regatta, the Ohio State Champs Regatta at Wooster College, the Notre Dame Invitational Regatta, and the MCSA Eliminations Regatta. Of course the club was host for its own Xavier Quad Regatta at Lake Cowan.

All is not sailing for these mariners, for many of the regattas include parties and dances. In October, the club sponsored a Friday night dance in the Armory in conjunction with the Rifle Club.

As of this spring, the club could boast three MIT "Tech Dingys," which are twelve-and-a-half foot fiberglass boats.

This year's chairman of the executive committee was Steve Schultz, commodore was John O'Connor and vice-commodore was Joe Creager. Other officers included Jim Ulrich, Evelyn Woelfe, and Bill Nevel. Dr. Joseph Bourgeois is the faculty moderator.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Under the capable leadership of President Kenneth Schneider, Student Council enjoyed another banner year. In addition to the usual tasks such as preparing the social calendar, handling the Senior "Mark of Distinction," selecting the Senior Class Gift, planning Homecoming and Mardi Gras festivities, and getting out the Student Directory, the Council introduced student identification cards. In order to supplement the Student Council treasury, which supports all University activities, the Council members devoted their own time to making up the cards.

OPERATION MORE

Xavier's Operation MORE, (Musketeer's Own Recruitment Effort) is unique among college organizations in that its purpose is to interest students of college caliber in Xavier University.

Such an organization, which aims to attract intelligent young men to the University, requires the utmost cooperation. Rev. Edward J. O'Brien, S.J., Director of Admissions and faculty adviser for Operation MORE, points to the growing number of pre-college clinics to demonstrate this cooperation. At these clinics, student representatives describe the spiritual and intellectual advantages of a liberal education at Xavier University. This year Operation MORE clinics were held in cities from Washington, D. C. to Chicago, Illinois, and from St. Louis, Missouri to Miami, Florida.

The Philopedian Debating Society of '58-'59, was the most traveled club on the campus. In December the group was in Chicago at Northwestern University, and in January, when Cincinnati was snowbound, they left for Coral Gables, Florida, for the University of Miami Debate Tournament. February found them at William and Mary College, and March at Butler University. In addition to all this, they still found time to sponsor the Midwest Catholic Debate Tournament, and the Marx Invitational Tournament.

Here on campus, the Philops provided men to introduce the convocation speakers, staged exhibition debates at civic and social gatherings, and appeared on television several times.

Dan Brislane serves as president, with Wayne Fehr, Jim Jensen, Tom Kuhlman, and T. J. Paulus filling the offices of Vice-President, Corresponding Secretary, Recording Secretary, and Treasurer, respectively. Rev. Vincent Horrigan S.J., is the moderator.

THE SODALITY

“Dynamic” is the word that best describes the Xavier Sodality. Dedicated to personal sanctification, and the sanctification of others, the Sodality under the direction of Rev. John J. Wenzel, S.J., made much progress this year in its program of training Catholic leaders. For the first time, a National Training School of Catholic Leaders was held at Xavier with students from thirty high schools and colleges participating. This proved to be extremely successful. In addition, the Sodalists accepted invitations from various universities to conduct a “Sodality Day” at their schools. These sessions were “swap-shops” of Catholic ideas led by Xavier men. Letters of praise from these schools stand as testimony to the excellence of the group.

The Sodality also sponsored “Operation Christ,” a movement within the city to interest high school students in Catholic action. With Rev. Frank F. Holland, S.J., at the helm, “Operation Christ” held days of recollection, monthly meetings, socials, and a retreat.

The group acquired funds for its activities by producing the third annual Variety Show, Time For Music under the direction of Bob Schaffstein and Tom Gressler.

The Prefect is Frank Peterlin, Vice-Prefect Kenneth Schneider, Secretary Michael Markiewicz, and the Treasurer is George Haas.

"Progress," the key word of the Xavier University Council of the Knights of Columbus, was definitely exemplified by the Knights during the school year.

Since the Council received its charter in February of 1958, the membership has grown from twenty to one-hundred men. Undoubtedly the reason for this rapid growth lies in the acquisition of a Council Chamber, Knights Manor, which, while serving as a meeting hall twice a month, also became home for twenty-one out of town students.

Dedicated to the betterment of themselves and Xavier University, the Knights are characterized by a spirit of brotherly love which works as an agent to further their cause.

Homecoming was a big weekend for the Knights. Their float won top honors, and their candidate for Queen, an attendantship.

Officers include, Grand Knight, Hugh Farrell; Deputy Grand Knight, Eduard Friedrich; Chancellor, Ed Weidenfeller; Treasurer, George Fritz; and Chaplain, Rev. Eugene Shields, S.J.

VETS CLUB

THE BAND

The Xavier University Band is one of the most outstanding organizations on campus. It was in 1925 that the Band Department was first installed here at Xavier. Since the arrival of Gilbert T. Maringer in 1946, the Band has grown by leaps and bounds. Mr. Maringer is a member of the National Association of Bandmasters and was recently appointed Archdiocesan Director of Instrumental Music.

There are seventy members of the Band who spend three days a week practicing for their performances at football and basketball games and at concerts.

In October the Band traveled to Miami to entertain at the football game. Following the game, this organization sponsored a dance in the Xavier Armory. A good time was had by all.

Two new rehearsal rooms and improved lighting have been added to the Band Department. This is part of the Band's expansion program.

With the advent of Bonnie in 1956, new zest and sparkle was added to the Band's performances. Her baton twirling has earned her many titles including Twirling Queen of Ohio for 1958.

One of the highpoints of their season was the concert given on Family Day week-end. They began rehearsal for these performances in December. The Band also participated in the memorial services at Crosley Field for the late Holy Father, Pius XII.

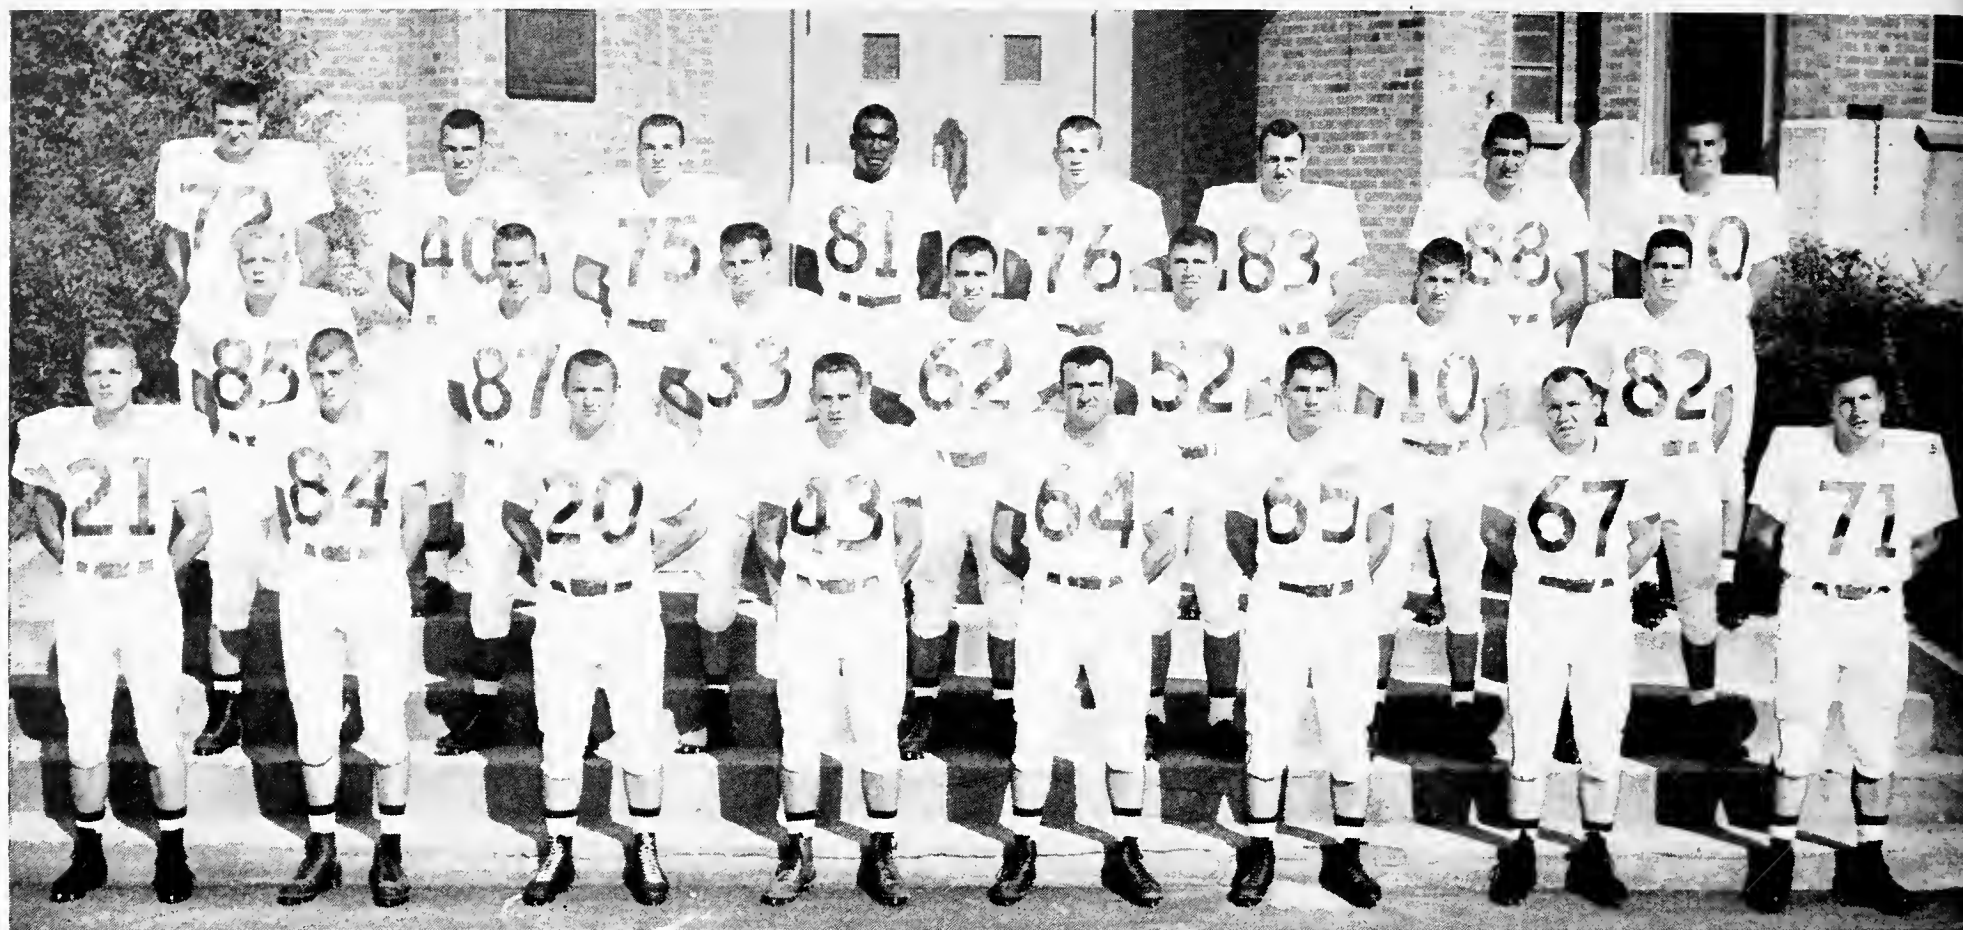

This is a voluntary organization which has unusually high spirit denoting fine esprit de corps within the organization.

Officers are as follows: Bob Sullivan served as President, Al Rohs was Vice-President, and Joe Marr was Treasurer. Publicity Chairman is Frank Hulefeld. Their moderator is, of course, Mr. Maringer.

FOOTBALL

On a warm, sunny, Saturday afternoon, early in October, the football teams of two great Universities meet to continue a long-standing tradition. The teams are those of Xavier University and the University of Cincinnati. The spectators are the students of both schools and the proud citizens of the city. Though the outcome of the game varies from year to year, one feature is always the same—on that day three great institutions become one.

VARSIY FOOTBALL

Final analysis of the 1958 football season shows that the Musketeers of Mick Connolly failed to improve on their 5-5 mark of the previous season, but showed flashes of brilliance in winning three straight games after the record read 2-4. A loss to Kentucky in the last game of the season evened the record.

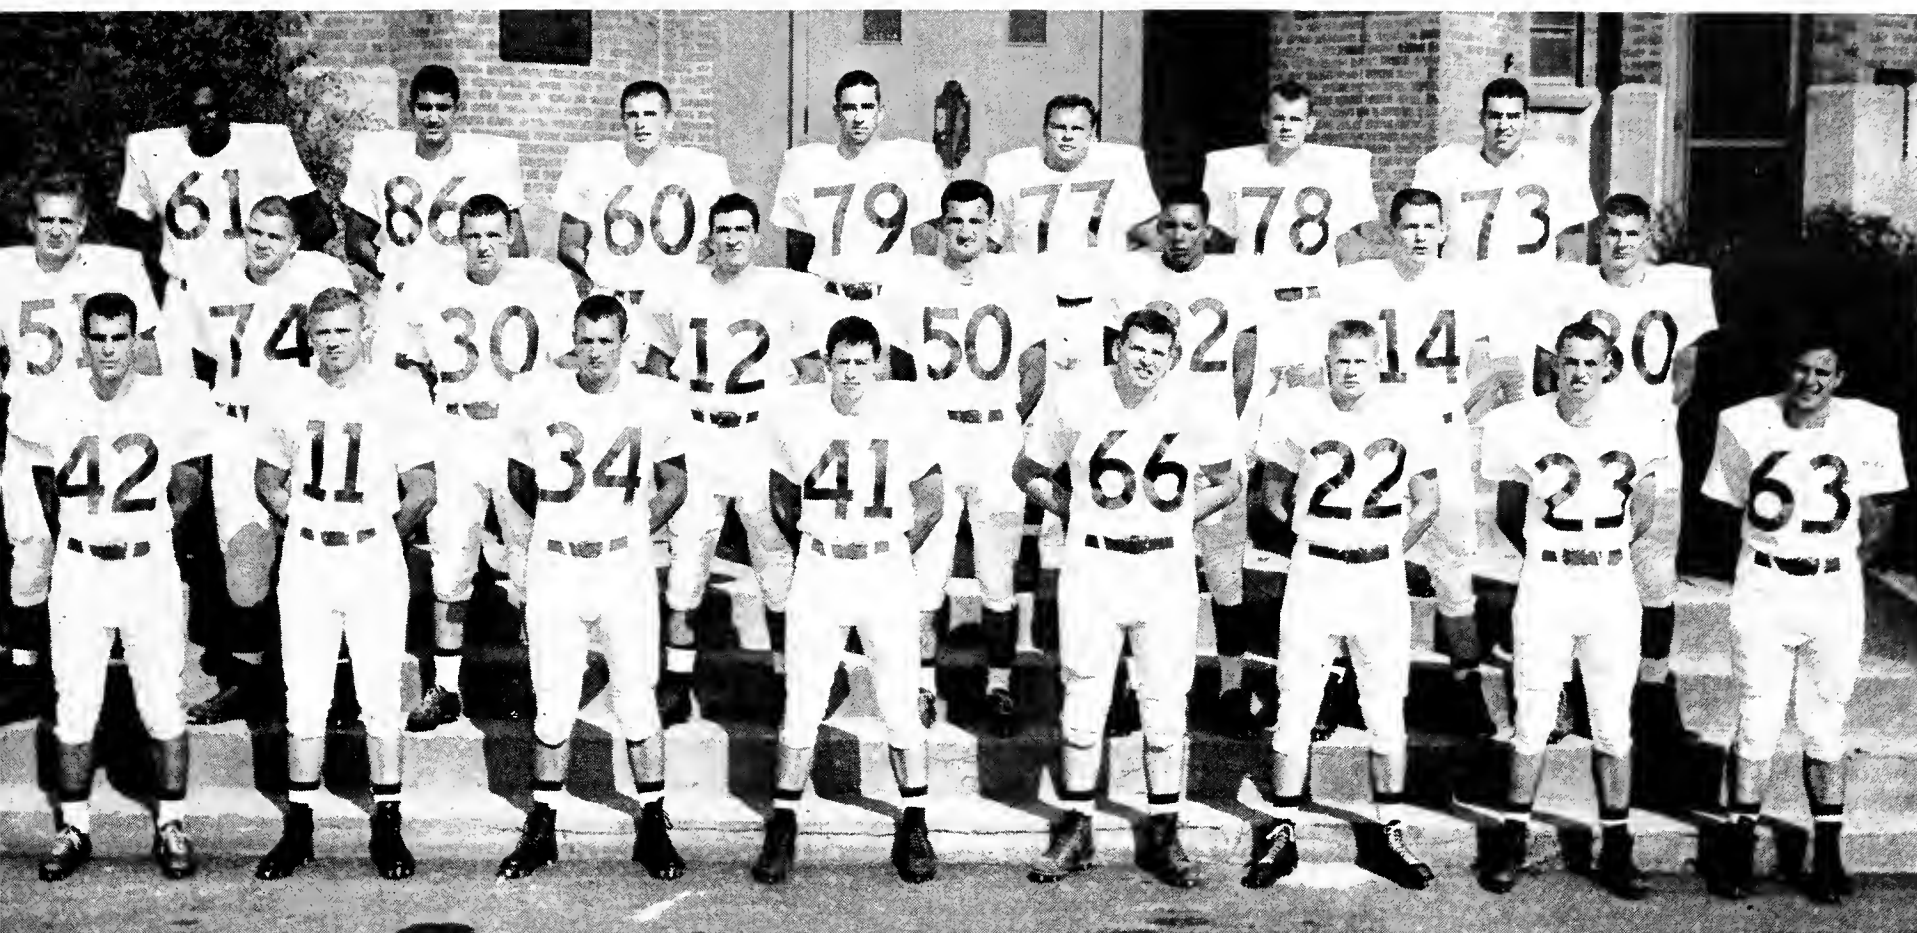

Inconsistency in the offensive department was the stumbling block that prevented a good football team from turning in a better record as the Muskies, a good defensive club all season long (the ground defense allowed foes but 102 yards per game), never could muster a serious offensive threat. Lack of depth in the backfield was the main reason for this shortcoming.

XAVIER 8 - ST. JOSEPH (IND.) 0

Although St. Joe, a perennial power in Hoosier small-college football, fielded a team far below the caliber of usual Puma teams, the Muskies were hard-pressed to gain an 8-0 victory in their season opener at Corcoran Field. A crowd of 8653 saw quarterback Jerry Casper score the touchdown on a one-yard sneak in the third period, then run the two-point conversion for the game's only scoring activity. An 18-yard pass from Casper to fullback Jocko Serieka set up the TD.

KENT STATE 6 - XAVIER 0

Kent State used a desperation 39-yard aerial from Tom Mostardo to Dick Milhaus with 45 seconds left in the game to gain a 6-0 victory at Corcoran Field. A rainy day reduced the effectiveness of each team's offense to practically nothing, and a scoreless tie seemed in the offing until the visitors pulled their coup.

QUANTICO 31 - XAVIER 20

Quantico's star-laden forces, led by hard-running halfback Harry Jefferson, took advantage of Muskie miscues to roll up a 31-6 lead, then had to hang on for dear life as the XU offense came to life to score 14 points in the fourth period before giving way to the Leathernecks' superior manpower. Quarterbacks Casper and Lane scored touchdowns on one-yard plunges, with a Lane to End John Silvati (88) and Quantico Marines defender Jim Lorenz (16), battle for a pass from Muskie quarterback Jerry Casper.

Wessel pass accounting for the other. Halfback Wessel also scored a two-point conversion on a toss from Lane. Defensively, the Muskies were led by linebackers Russ Goings and Gene Tomezak, who played their third straight outstanding game. Jefferson, however, couldn't be stopped as he scored three touchdowns.

XAVIER 22 - MIAMI 8

Xavier's annual excursion to Oxford produced a particularly sweet victory for the second straight year. This time the Musketeers, labeled impotent on offense by their critics, completely outclassed the host team with a dazzling offense and a rock-ribbed defense to win 22-8.

Wessel, who averaged six yards per attempt, scored twice on a two-yard dive and a 47-yard pass from Casper. Terry Meyer, who had a five-yard mean per carry, scored the other on a 17-yard burst. Two-point conversions were added by Wessel and Lane. The defensive work was well-balanced as the big Xavier line limited the Redskins to 56 yards on the ground.

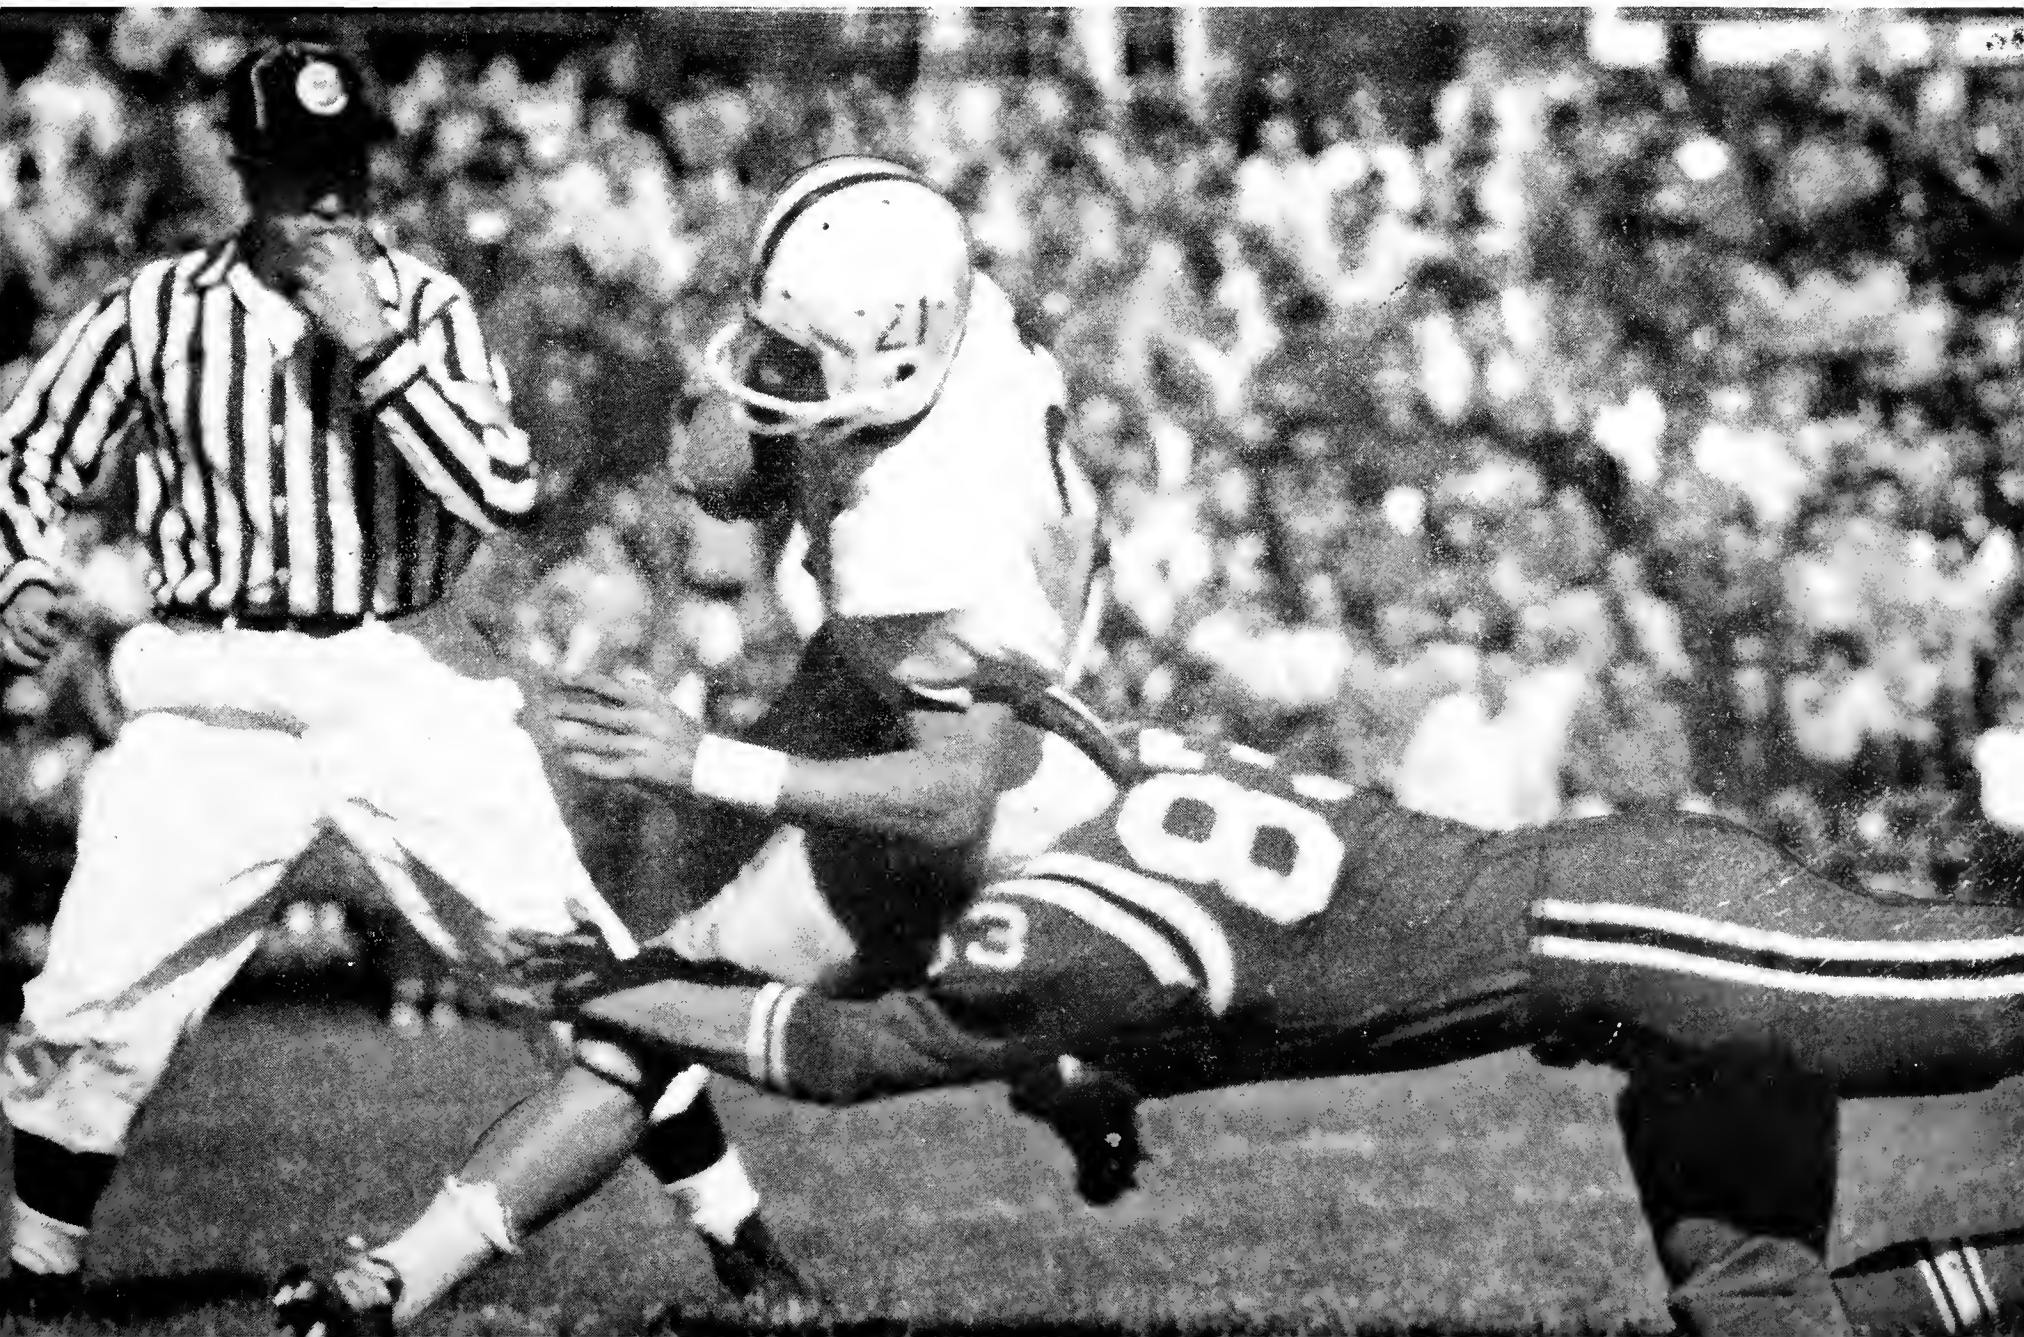

CINCINNATI 14 - XAVIER 8

Inconsistency in the offensive attack proved to be XU's bugaboo once again as Cincinnati triumphed for the second straight year in the cross-town rivalry, winning 14-8 at Nippert Stadium. Xavier's only TD was scored by mammoth tackle Tom Gonnella, who grabbed a deflected Bearcat pass on a fake field goal try and thundered 53 yards for the score with one second left in the first half. Casper skirted end for the conversion. The Muskies threatened several times in the second half but were always halted by penalties or other mistakes.

DETROIT 31 - XAVIER 6

Detroit's Titans spoiled Xavier's Homecoming, exploiting a leaky pass defense to win 31-6 at Corcoran Field. Four different Detroit passers threw TD tosses as the Muskies' pass defense fell apart. Penalties also played a large part in the Muskies' downfall as 129 yards (a new school record) were stepped off against XU. Fullback Faust Coyle scored the lone Xavier marker on a six-yard jog in the fourth quarter.

Jim Wessel, fleet halfback, is nailed by Cincinnati end Don Reinhold as he attempts to turn the corner.

Bob Timberlake, former All-American end from Oklahoma, now with the Quantico Marines, snatches a third-quarter pass from Jim Lorenz despite the efforts of Xavier's Joe Jordan (41).

XAVIER 16 - DAYTON 0

Xavier's resurrection from the ranks of the also-rans began with the Muskies' home finale against Dayton at Corcoran Field, when the Big Blue smothered the Flyers 16-0. Not only did the offense click, but the defense surpassed its usually outstanding performance with a great job, limiting Dayton to minus four yards rushing and 45 passing. Xavier touchdowns were scored by end John Silvati on a 39-yard pass from Lane and Meyer on a one-yard plunge. Lane added the conversion. The X-Men also trapped Dayton's quarterback for a safety in the second period to account for the rest of the scoring.

XAVIER 14 - MARSHALL 6

Step two of operation comeback was accomplished on a three-yard run by Coyle and an 83-yard pass play from Lane to Meyer. After Marshall had grabbed a 6-0 advantage, the X-Men recorded a safety, then, under Lane's heady field generalship, scored their two touchdowns to pull out the win.

XAVIER 34 - TOLEDO 8

Win number three in a row came as a result of the Muskies' best offensive display of the year, at the expense of the Toledo Rockets 34-8. Meyer tallied on runs of 29 and 15 yards, Serieka on a 12-yard jaunt, Coyle on a 12-yard pass from Lane, and Eddie D. Thomas on a 38-yard pass interception runback. Lane and Ron Costello tacked on conversions. Connolly was able to empty his bench as the Muskies gained their first decisive victory of the season.

KENTUCKY 20 - XAVIER 6

Less than one foot proved to be the difference, in the long run, between defeat and victory for the Musketeers in their season finale at Lexington as Kentucky scored three times in the fourth quarter to take a 20-6 win. After a scoreless first half, the fired-up Muskies penetrated to the Kentucky four midway in the third period, but four cracks at a determined Wildcat line, the last but a foot short, proved futile. This goal-line stand turned the tide; Kentucky came alive, while the Muskies' spirit was broken. Ron Costello, who completed six straight passes to tie a school record, scored the Xavier touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Joe Jordan fights for the extra yard as Miami's Johnny Moore tries to haul him down. The Redskins' Ed Hill (68) comes up to help out, while Jocko Serieka (30) fights off Herb Fairfield (74).

FOOTBALL BANQUET

Terry Meyer walked off with two awards—Most Valuable Player, which he won for the second straight year, and Most Valuable Back, while tackle Captain Art Del Conte and guard Russ Goings shared the Most Valuable Lineman award. Named co-captains for next season were fullback Jocko Serieka and center Tom McGraw, while guard Jim Link merited the Most Improved Player award.

Although they didn't equal the unbeaten record posted by the freshman team of the previous season, the 1958 Xavier Frosh gave a good account of themselves in chalking up a 3-1 slate. Hampered all season long by a small squad (31) and injuries to key players, the junior Muskies of Ed Biles and Ron Williams rolled to three straight wins to extend Biles' three-year freshman team streak to nine before dropping their final contest.

A pair of workhorse halfbacks carried most of the load for the Frosh. Larry Cox averaged six yards per carry and scored 32 points, while Jerry Johnson averaged better than five yards per tote and scored 30 markers. Tom Clark, although hampered by injuries, held forth at fullback, while Irv Etler and John Panneton split the quarterback chores.

Leading linesmen were guards John Nelson and Mark Kracker, tackles Chris Smalara and Mike Humphrey, and ends Mike Hunter and Tom Walkiewicz.

The junior Muskies opened their season with a 45-0 conquest of Dayton's Frosh as Johnson scored three touchdowns. The next game, at Miami, saw the Yearlings rally from a 14-point deficit to down the Papooses 22-14. Cox's two tallies sparked a 33-6 win over a good Marshall club on the junior Muskies' home turf. The season finale at Athens, O., saw the Ohio U. Frosh probe the injury-riddled XU Frosh pass defense for a 36-26 win.

VARSIY BASKETBALL

"From rags to riches—then back to rags." That's the story of Xavier basketball during the past two seasons.

Midnight came this year for the "Cinderella Team" which last year became the toast of the basketball world by capturing the National Invitational Tournament after entering as an unseeded team with a mediocre 15-11 mark. This season, the Musketeers fought just as hard as the previous year, but the shots didn't fall quite so many times, and they wound up the season with a "rags" 12-13 record and were not invited back to defend their title. A disastrous February, which saw the Muskies lose all seven games played during that short month, sounded the final stroke of midnight.

Playing a "killer" schedule which was one of the toughest, if not the toughest, in the nation, the Musketeers, one of the nation's tallest teams, were hampered by a lack of overall team speed which enabled the opposition to fast-break; this was to prove the downfall. Although nine of twelve lettermen returned from the N.I.T.

championship squad which had shot 42 percent the previous season, the X-Men managed a shooting percentage of only 37 this season, and were often unfortunate enough to run into an opponent on its hottest night of the season.

WIN FIRST FIVE

The season got off to a good start with the Musketeers equaling the school mark for consecutive victories; their five straight wins, coupled with the four in the N.I.T. of the previous season, tied the school record of nine. The Muskies opened with an impressive 91-71 win over John Carroll December 2 in the Fieldhouse as Joe Viviano tossed in 26 and Hank Stein 21. Three days later, they had to hang on for dear life to outlast New Mexico A. & M 58-52 as Viviano and Stein tabbed 17 each. December 11 saw the X-Men down Iona 69-52 in New York's Madison Square Gardens led by Stein's 17 and Viviano's 16. Two days later, this same pair propelled the Blue and White to an 80-58 victory over Detroit at Detroit as Viviano canned 25 and Stein 20. Returning home, the X-Men played one of their finest games of the season in measuring West Coast powerhouse, Seattle, 80-68 at Cincinnati Garden December 19. Stein led scorers with 24, while Viviano, who entered the Xavier 1000-point club, placed second with 18.

MARQUETTE DEALS FIRST LOSS

Marquette gave the first indication of what was to come later, hitting 51 percent of its shots and race-horsing to an 86-71 win at Milwaukee December 22. Mike Moran's 26 led the Eddie Hickey-tutored Warriors, while Stein paced the Muskies with 23.

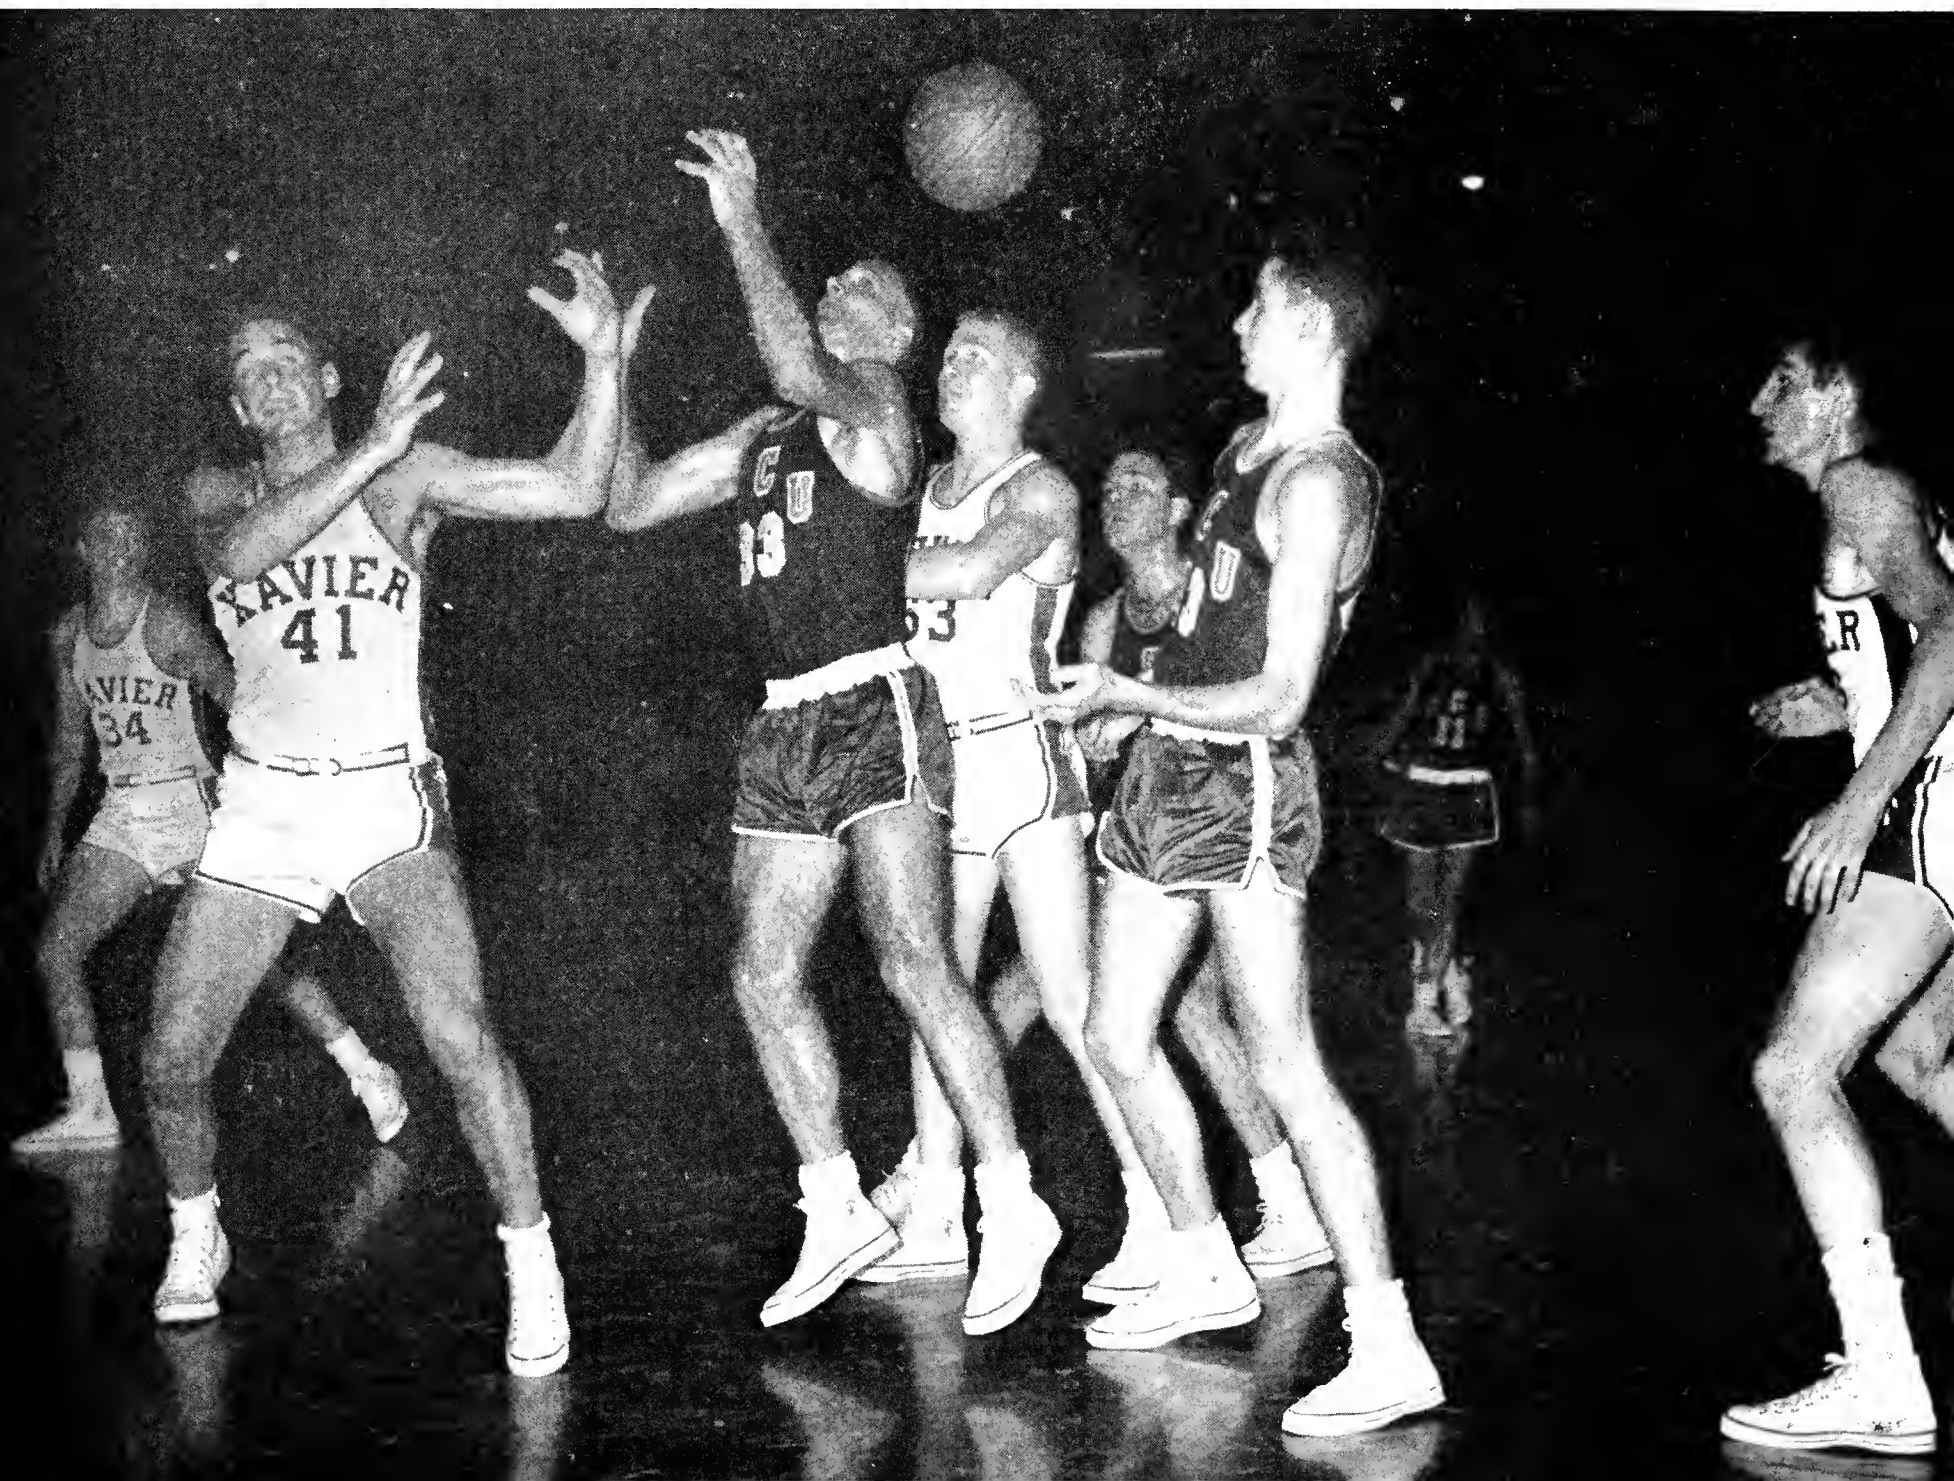

1958 was ended on a sour note at the All-College Tournament at Oklahoma City December 26, 27, and 29 as Xavier, seeded No. 1 in the tournament, won only the first of its three games. The Muskies, led by Stein's 18, downed Oregon 68-57 in the opener, but were literally run out of the arena in the next two games, which saw Oklahoma City shoot 57 percent to win 81-54, followed by Bowling Green's 52 percent, 92-71 blitzing.

BEST NIGHT OF SEASON

1959 was ushered in with a 98-66 rout of Louisville January 3 at the Garden as the X-Men, hitting 57 percent of their shots, enjoyed their best offensive night of the season. Viviano dropped in 22 and Stein, who entered the 1000-point club, 21. Three nights later, Viviano hit for 35, his personal high at Xavier, to lead an 85-79 win over Miami at Oxford. A return engagement with Louisville at Louisville January 10 proved unprofitable, however, as the revenge-minded Cardinals prevailed 70-66. Four days later, the Muskies dropped a 60-56 decision to Dayton at Dayton, then took a ten-day break to prepare both for exams and for the Cincinnati Bearcats.

A look of anguish seemingly crosses Joe Viviano's face as he and John Carroll's Gary Furin (33) see the ball go astray. The Muskies won their season opener 91-71 before a capacity crowd in the Fieldhouse.

Joe Viviano (41) and Ducky Castelle close in on Western Kentucky's Al Ellison after he captures a rebound. Western won the game, played at the Garden 82-73; Viviano scored nine points to set a new school scoring record.

Hank Stein finds his way obstructed by Cincinnati's Dave Tenwick (31) as he tries to drive for the goal.

Their nationally-televised encounter with their crosstown rival was an unhappy one, however, as Oscar Robertson pumped in 38 points to lead his fast-breaking mates to a 92-66 win at the Garden.

After an unimpressive 70-62 win over Georgetown at the Fieldhouse January 28, in which Viviano notched 22, the Musketeers closed out January with a 73-71 triumph over Notre Dame January 31 at the Chicago Stadium. Although hampered by a bad heel, Stein led Xavier with his best output of the season, a 27-point burst.

FAMINE IN FEBRUARY

The February famine, which saw the Muskies go winless, began with a 59-56 loss to St. Francis of Pennsylvania at the Fieldhouse February 2. Al Gundrum, who scored 20 for the game, led a Xavier rally which fell short in the final seconds.

A Western road trip produced two defeats as Seattle emerged victorious 88-69 February 9 and Montana State, led by Larry Chanay's 36, triumphed 93-81 at Bozeman, Montana, February 11. The only bright spot of the trip was the return to early-season form of Ducky Castelle. Castelle led the Musketeers with 22 at Bowling Green, Kentucky, February 16, but to no avail as Western Kentucky won 94-67.

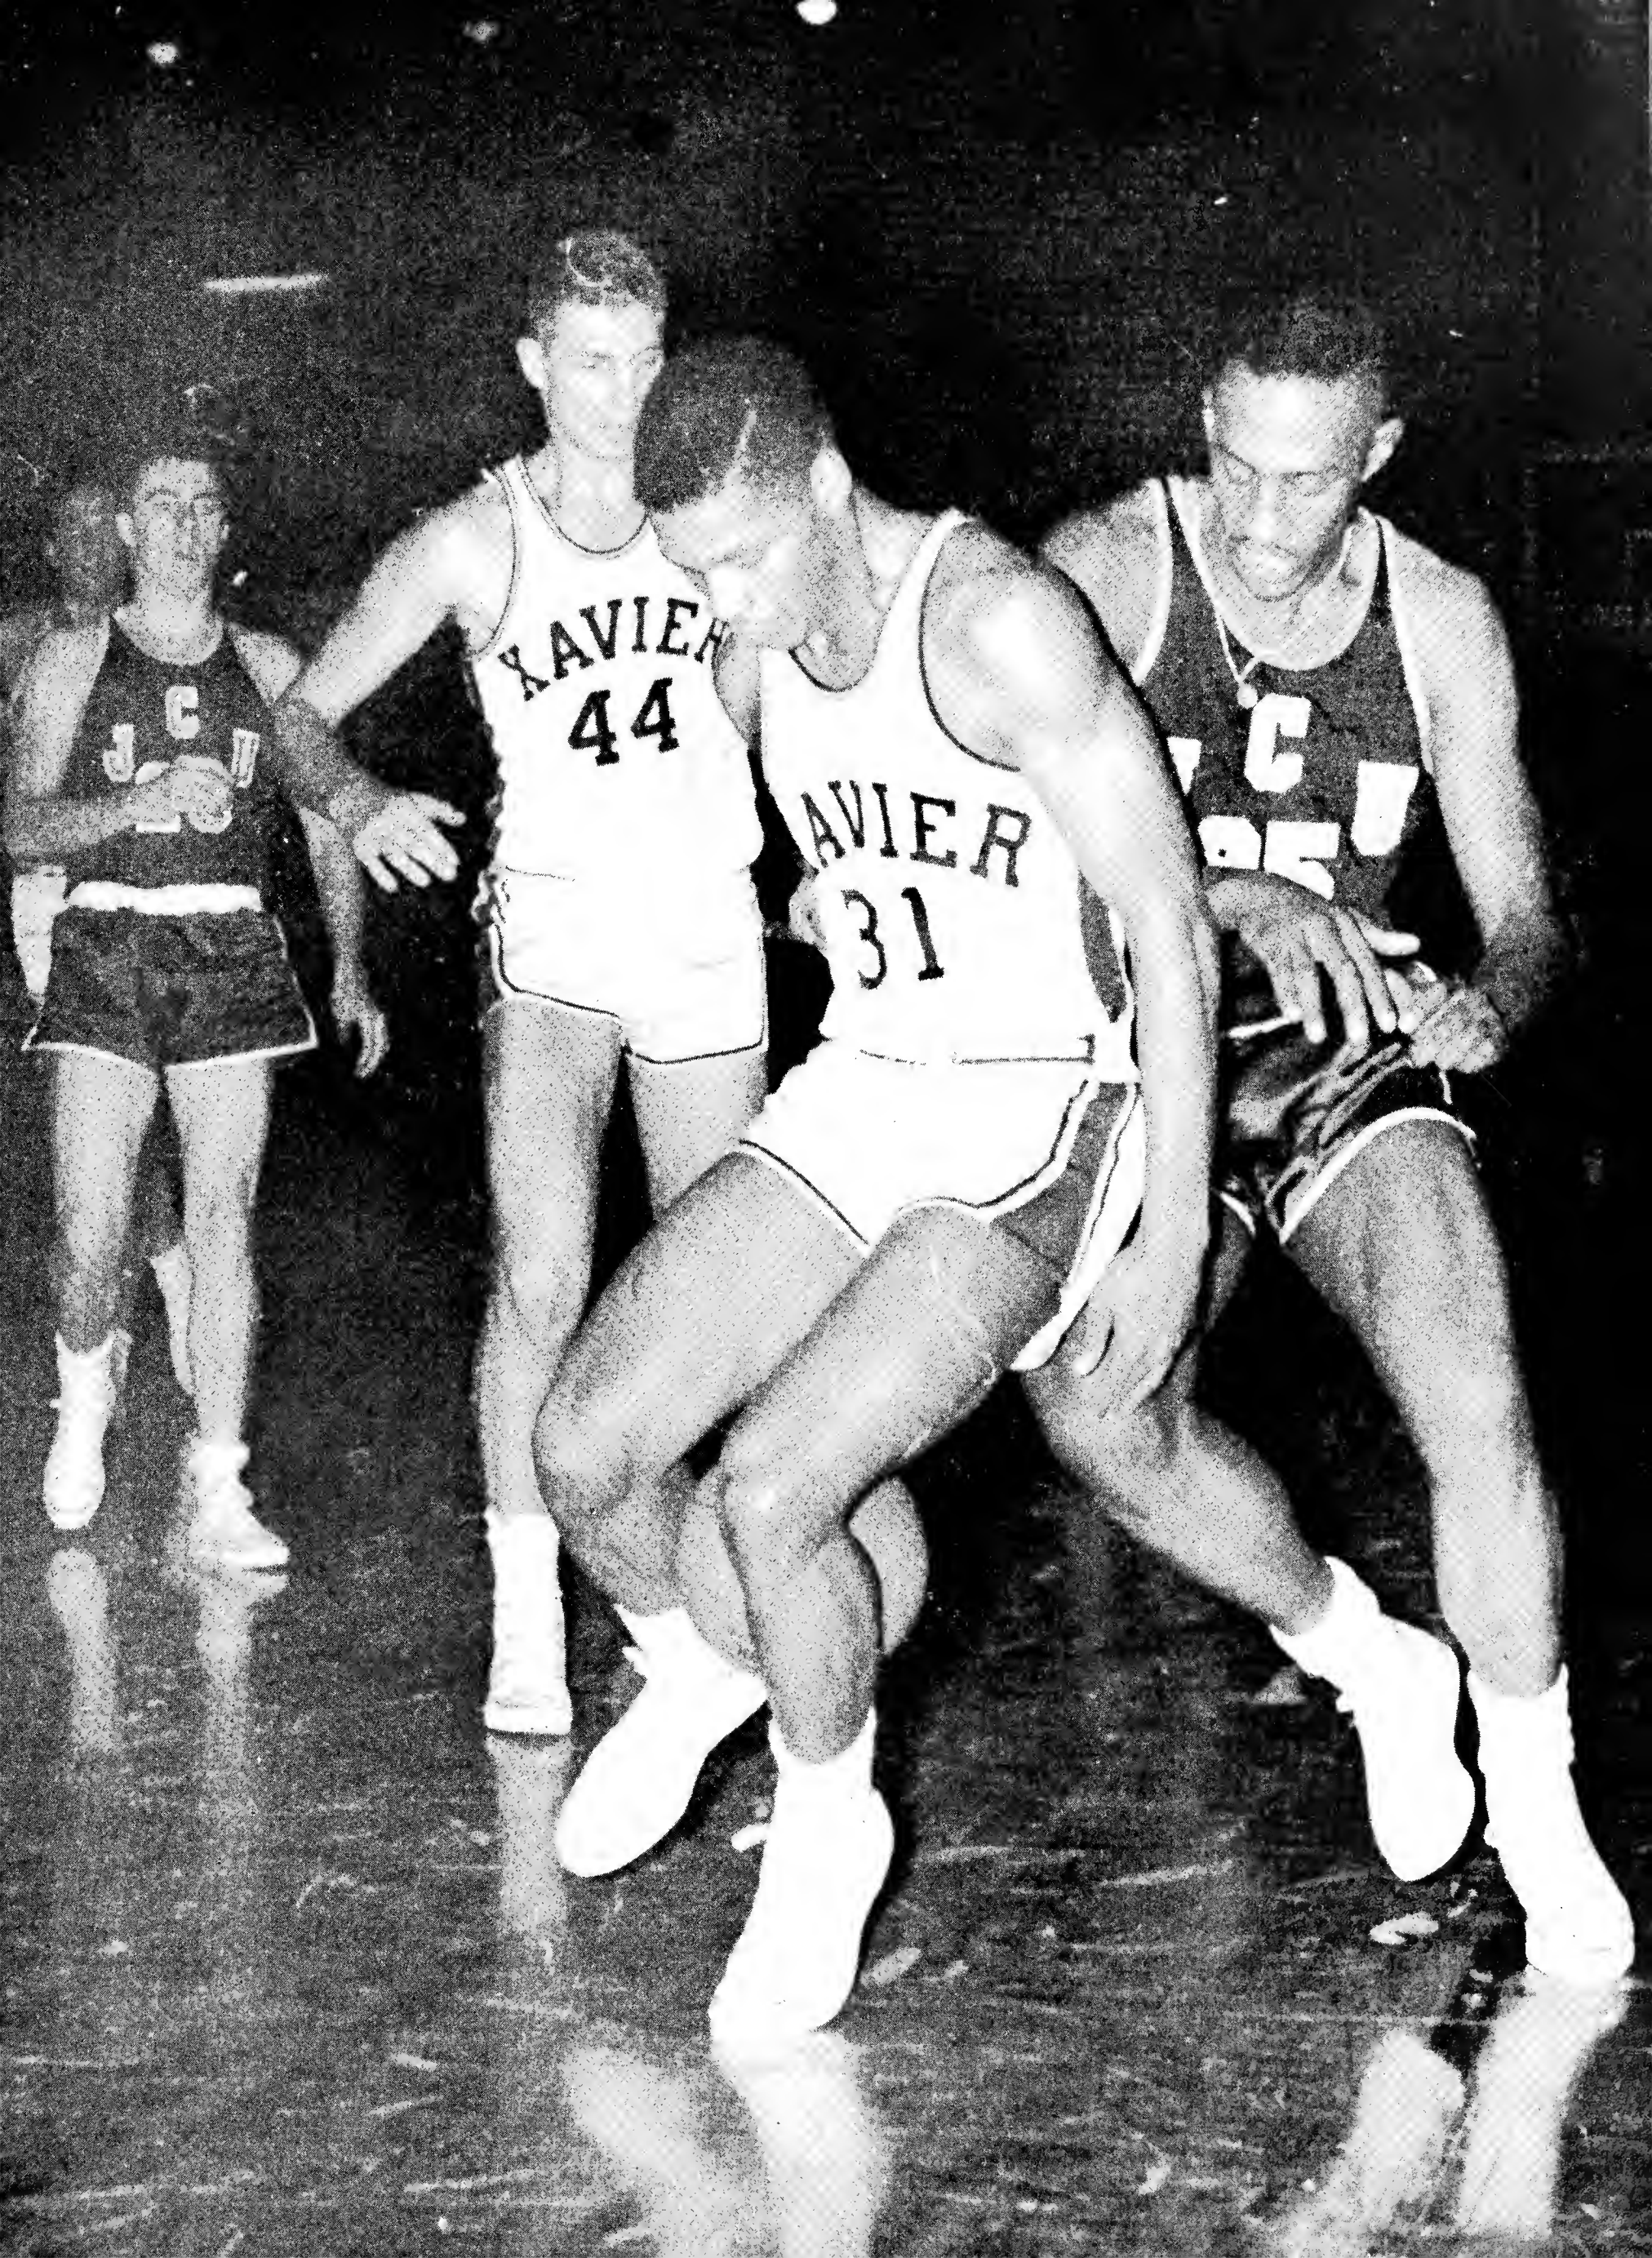

Returning home, the X-Men fell once more as Marquette burned the Garden's nets with a 55 percent shooting night to stave off the determined Muskies 79-70 February 21 despite Viviano's 28 and Castelle's 20. Two nights later, Western Kentucky won its second Xavier game within a week, triumphing 82-73 at the Garden. LaSalle closed out the month by assuring the Musketeers of a losing season, winning 99-80 at Philadelphia February 28. Three players scored over 20 points for the Explorers, while Gundrum led Xavier with 22.

VICTORIES COME TOO LATE

Back in the friendly confines of Schmidt Fieldhouse, the Musketeers snapped their seven-game losing skein with an inspired 82-78 victory over Miami March 3. Castelle led scoring with 19, followed by Viviano and Jim Haffner with 17 each.

The 1959 season ended on the same note as the 1958 campaign—with a win over Dayton. The difference was that this season's win wasn't for the N.I.T. crown. Adhering to a personal custom, Coach McCafferty started all five seniors—Joe Viviano, Hank Stein, Jim Dentinger, Jim Puthoff, and Leo Phillips—in the curtain-dropper March 8 at the Garden with the result that Stein, an occupant of the bench since the St. Francis game because of a scoring slump, played like the Most Valuable Player he was in the 1958 N.I.T. to lead his mates to a heartwarming comeback 71-69 victory over the Flyers. Down 51-38 midway in the second half, the Musketeers, sparked by Stein and Viviano, rallied to pull over the hump. Two free throws by Ron Nicolai and one by Viviano clinched the win. Stein scored 17 and Viviano 15 for the game.

VIVIANO SMASHES RECORDS

Although his average dropped one point from that of the previous year, Viviano's steady 17 points per game was enough to give him the team scoring leadership for the second straight year. The 6 foot-5 inch forward from Louisville wound up an illustrious career with 1338 points, breaking the Xavier scoring record of 1287 held by Dave Piontek, now with the Cincinnati Royals. Viviano also erased records held by Piontek for most field goals, most minutes played, and highest field goal percentage.

Second in the scoring derby was Stein with a 13.7 mean. The 6 foot-2 inch Louisvillian, who wound up his career with 1144 markers, finished second in the nation in free throw shooting with an .860 percentage.

Third in the scoring column went to Ducky Castelle, who put on a tremendous burst late in the season to raise his shooting percentage almost .100 and bring his average to a 10.1 figure. He was followed by diminutive Al Gundrum (7.4), strapping Ron Nicolai (6.8), and lanky Charlie Phillips (5.9). All of the aforementioned trio showed well in the second half of the season. Nicolai, who topped Viviano for the rebounding crown by one (245 to 244), also raised his shooting percentage almost .100 during the final month. The 6 foot-8 inch Cincinnati became one of the team's most consistent rebounders and scorers during this period. Gundrum and Phillips also showed well when they gained starting roles.

Providing reserve strength throughout the season were Jim Puthoff, Jim Haffner, who sparked in the last two games of the season, Jim Dentinger, Leo Phillips, Ed Tepe, and Bill Middendorf.

Endowed with what was probably the finest collection of freshman talent ever assembled at this school, Coach Don Ruberg guided his charges to a 15-1 record, winning the mythical freshman championship of the "Little Valley" (Miami, Dayton, Xavier, and Cincinnati) in the process.

The lone blemish on the Little Muskies' record was a 76-67 loss to Dayton, which came without star guard Jim Enright. Enright scored 23 points in the second meeting between the two teams, won by the Xavier Frosh 87-74. Other wins over Little Valley clubs were over Miami twice, 65-64 and 73-58, and Cincinnati 74-73.

Leading performer for the capable crew of Ruberg and new assistant, Art DelConte, was 6 foot-1 inch guard Bill Kirvin, who hit 58 percent of his shots, 87 percent of his free throws, and averaged 19.3 per game. The slender deadeye, whose high game was 32 against Cincinnati Gas & Electric, hit 11 of 13 shots in a game on two occasions. His backcourt teammate, the 5 foot-10 inch Enright, hit 48 percent and averaged 15.1 to place second in scoring.

Starting forwards were 6 foot-7 inch Jack Thobe, who averaged 14.6 and led the team in rebounding with an average of 14 per game, and 6 foot-5 inch leaper and defensive ace Frank Pinchback, who averaged 10 points and 10 rebounds per contest. Sharing the center duties were 6 foot-8 inch Jerry Antil and 6 foot-9 inch Pete Schmeling, the latter playing only against A.A.U. teams.

The three front-line reserves could have been starters on most freshman teams. They were 6 foot-6 inch John Hannigan, 6 foot-4 inch Dick Strobel, and 6 foot-5 inch Don Cowie. Giving the junior Muskies a strong all-round bench were backcourt reserves 6 foot Ed Riechman, 5 foot-10 inch Mickey Seal, 6 foot-1 inch Ken Williams, who also played only against A.A.U. teams, and 6 foot Dave Guenther.

Wins for the frosh in A.A.U. competition came over Aeronca 87-48, Little Mickeys 78-65, Cincinnati Gas & Electric 94-55, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base 70-47, National Cash Register 98-68, Glendale 63-40 and 70-55, Sweeney Autos 88-78, and Armco 86-69. Two other victories were gained over the Villa Madonna College frosh, 85-75 and 79-69.

High spots for the Yearlings were shooting performances of 56 percent against Cincinnati Gas & Electric and 51 percent against National Cash Register, and a 74-rebound job against Armco. The frosh averaged 79.0 per game to 63.2 for the opposition, out-rebounded their opponents 56-43 per game, and shot 42 percent. High individual rebound performance was Thobe's 19 against Little Mickeys.

EVENING COLLEGE

The necessary correlation—the inevitable interaction of college and community is, perhaps, best illustrated in the role of the Evening College. It is there, in the center of the city, that our working citizens seek the education which they know is essential to their place in society. It is there, for a few stolen hours, that the people of the community become students of the college. It is there, in the turmoil of the metropolis, that college and community are fused in a common effort for the benefit of all.

DEAN RUSSELL J. WALKER

Nearing its golden anniversary, Cincinnati's downtown Evening College has completed another year of successful service to its students. It has provided many with the opportunity to obtain bachelors' degrees; it has developed or strengthened Christian attitudes toward life and living; it has helped many make serious decisions, perhaps regarding the type of career by which they will provide family livelihood.

Dean Russell J. Walker, the apt counsellor and administrator of the Evening College, completes his sixth year in this capacity. During this time he has expressed a philosophy of personal concern in both advising students in their degree curricula and in providing a competent faculty to insure the quality of the degrees conferred.

He is assisted by the cooperation and capability of Paul E. Sweeney, who also serves as director of veterans' education.

The faculty of the night college consists of the regular day faculty of the University and part time instructors whose days are devoted to the world of business. All realize the value of educating adult students who comprise the majority of the thirteen hundred enrollments this year. A successful academic year will be realized in June when thirty-six degrees and ten certificates will be awarded.

The friendly office staff is directed by the Evening College Secretary, Mrs. Evelyn Pastor. This efficient group consists of Rita Rebholz, Lois Wood, and Jo Ann Scholl. Bookstore attendants this year were Mike Alaire, Jim Mawhorr, and Ray Zwick.

The "Night Side," edited by Jim Vorwoldt, provided copy for the Xavier University News through the services of the qualified staff: Donald F. Kramer, Mary Anne Martin, Rita Mellett, and Pat Oates.

Socially, the XILES is the main group at the Evening College, conducting many enjoyable affairs throughout the year. Time and toil spent by its enthusiastic members enable this organization to plan these opportunities. The annual "Get Acquainted Dance" was held in the Evening

College Auditorium on September 27. In October, the XILES entered their "Give 'Em The Brush" float in the Homecoming Parade. The halls of the Evening College rang with the calls of a square dance in the gym in November. As the highlight of this dance, two new cheerleaders, Mary Lee Loch and Marilyn Marrs, selected by an appointed committee, were presented.

Dick Glassmeyer chairmanned the annual Christmas project for underprivileged families in Cincinnati. The donations from the students bought groceries, candy, and toys which were distributed to parents and children.

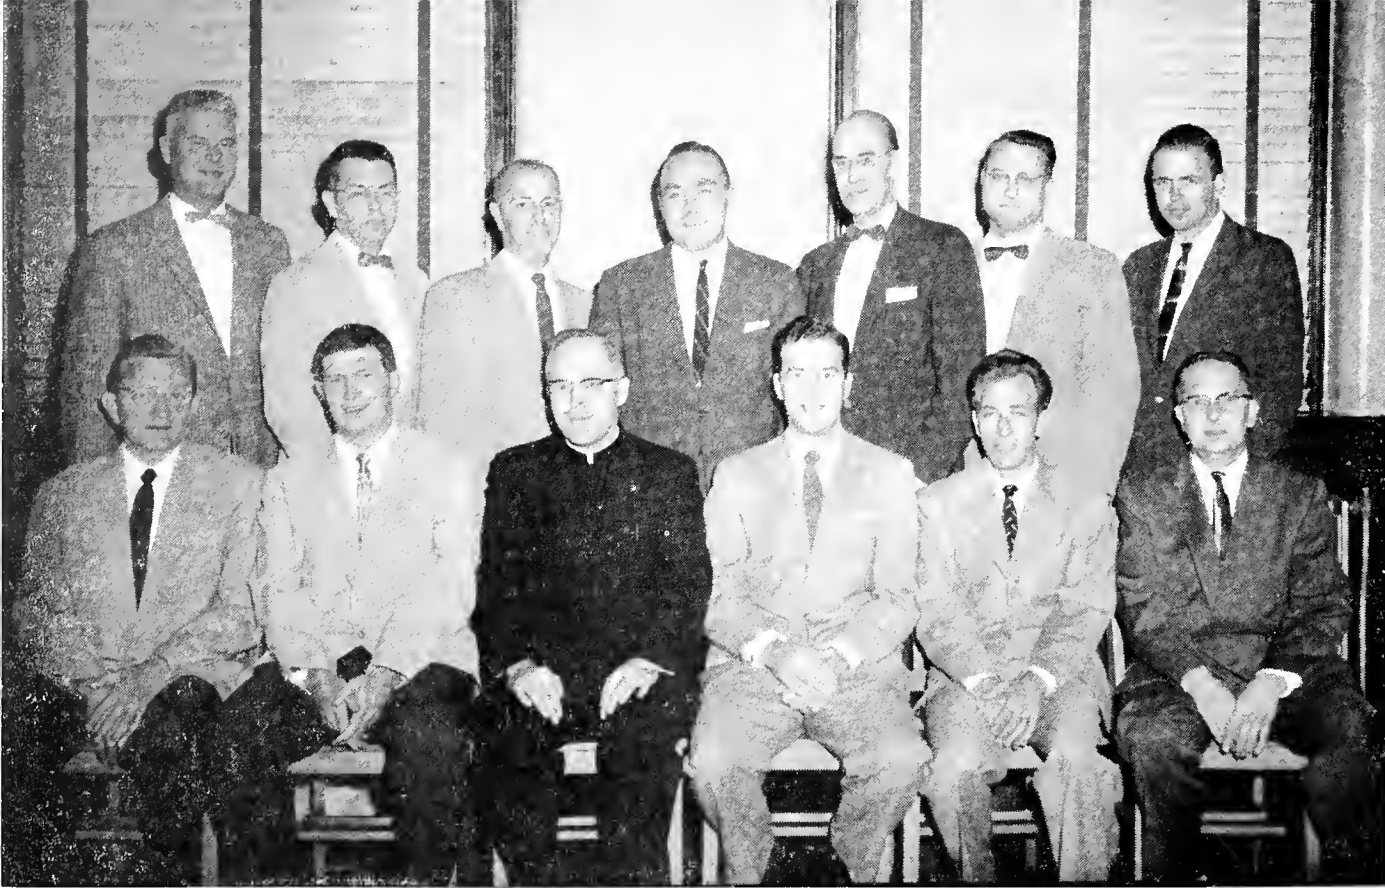

A dance was held on January 16, a valentine party on February 22, and the annual spring picnic in June. The social calendar concluded with the Spring Formal and the election of "Lady of the Evening College."

Vince Murphy, president of the XILES, concluded his term of office in acting as chairman of this dance. Nick Schneider, Vice-President; Phyllis Tolwig, Secretary; and Jolene Leon, Treasurer, were the officers of 1958-59.

Although it is with a sigh of relief that I affix my signature to the last page of this book, I look upon the entire experience as being a pleasant one. The largest contributing factor to the success of this book is ultimately the splendid cooperation of the entire Xavier Family. Without this, an annual would not be possible.

BRIAN BREMNER.
